

The connection of the Dashboard modules to the EWP Network has recently been completed. The technical testing of the EWP connection between MoveOn and the Erasmus Dashboard for the exchange of Learning Agreement data is concluded, but testing is still ongoing with other providers. The challenge of fully embedding the various Dashboard modules with the EWP network is a joint effort with colleagues from the University of Porto and the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki. A new era is starting and we hope it will facilitate fundamental improvements in student mobility across Europe! #### Relive the Erasmus Goes Digital webinar series.

Relive the Erasmus Goes Digital 2021 webinar series and learn the key facts when embarking on the fully digital Erasmus+: discover how Higher Education Institutions can put crucial information directly at the students' fingertips via the Erasmus+ App; learn more on the European Student Card Initiative roll-out and upcoming steps in the transition phase; and follow the hands-on demos of the Erasmus Dashboard and listen to IROs' own experience in managing Inter-institutional Agreements and Online Learning Agreements via the Dashboard with all other EWP Network partners.

Erasmus+ Teaching Mobility Platform launch.

The Erasmus+ Teaching Mobility Platform (ETMP) is a brand-new website, akin to a marketplace, where academic staff and institutions can offer and find teaching or training mobility opportunities easily and effectively. Visitors can invite academics or apply for opportunities directly on the website. Next to these key functionalities, the site offers tools, crucial information and guidelines for teaching mobility. The aim of the website is to improve the quality of the mobility of academic staff by providing an online meeting place to exchange information about the planned mobility in a structured and digitalised way. #### Staff competences for quality student mobility.

After almost 3 years of intensive work on developing methods and tools to enhance Erasmus staff competences, the FESC project has come to an end. The closing conference allowed us to demonstrate the functioning of the Framework for Erasmus Staff Competences and introduce the FESC Guidelines and Policy recommendations. The event also included an interesting panel discussion on the project's sustainability, with guest speakers from the previous projects SUCTI and Realise. The project results were further showcased with workshops on the next day and are already available of the FESC website.

Improving the quality of information in the media.

Efforts to improve the quality of information and reduce mis- and disinformation spread in the media continue and a second conference on "Enhancing Research Understanding through Media" was organised by the Cyprus University of Technology. The event brought together nearly 70 participants, mostly media professionals, academics, and policymakers. During the event, participants had the chance to explore the Evidence-Based Communication Guidelines and discover other useful resources in the ERUM website.

Education for environmental sustainability.

The European Commission is preparing a proposal for a Council Recommendation on education for environmental sustainability. This survey aims at gathering ideas and views from individuals and organisations on this initiative. Read more
